Nursing Philosophy

As a Registered Nurse I intend to provide safe, high quality, evidenced-based care that is patient and whanau centered. I want to deliver a service that is personalized, empathetic and respectful.

I believe in advocating for each patient's rights to equality of care: regardless of situation, ethnicity or disability. I am passionate about working within a supportive multi-disciplinary team, alongside patients and their whanau, to achieve better health outcomes.

I aim to further hone and develop my nursing skills through practice and on-going education. I seek to uphold the values within my nursing philosophy and build upon my passion for health promotion, which I developed whilst working in gynaecology.

I believe health promotion and education play a key role in supporting patients on their journey to recovery and better health outcomes.

WORK EXPERIENCE

01.

2016-2018

CDHB | REGISTERED NURSE

I worked within the gynaecology ward at Christchurch Women's Hospital. Key Responsibilities included: Pre- and post- surgical care, medication administration, and the assessment and monitoring of acutely unwell clients.
